Cambridge Scholars Program

Each summer, Scholar Development partners with Arts and Sciences Outreach to offer broadly engaging general education courses and unique learning experiences led by exceptional faculty for ambitious, adventurous OSU students in any major.

2019 | Course Description

Imagine living in a country where every citizen is guaranteed the right to free health care services. For citizens of the United Kingdom this is the reality of the universal health care coverage provided by the National Health Service. Conversely, health care services are not guaranteed for all citizens of the United States, making the U.S. the only industrialized country that does not offer universal health care to its population. This comparative course sets out to provide an overview of both the UK and US health care systems and the associated health outcomes of their populations.
